

Global Education Massachusetts

Presents

The World at Our Doorstep:

Moving Towards a Global Orientation in Our Schools

Tuesday, May 1, 2012

8:30 – 10:30 a.m., light breakfast

The Federal Reserve Bank

600 Atlantic Avenue, Boston

Featuring Anthony Jackson, Vice President for Education, Asia Society

Dr. Jackson will discuss the Asia Society's International Studies Schools Network, a group of over 30 internationally themed schools located across the United States, which are developing globally competent, college- and career-ready high school students.

Following Dr. Jackson's presentation, a diverse panel will respond, offering examples of international education initiatives in Massachusetts, making the case for business, and pointing to policies that create opportunities for a greater number of globally oriented schools.

The Panel

Moderator: Julia de la Torre, Executive Director, Primary Source

Donald Andrade, Managing Director, Andrade Advisors Group, LLC

Eric Hieser, Executive Director, Sturgis Charter School, Hyannis

Bridget Rodriguez, Director of Planning and Collaboration, Massachusetts Executive Office of Education

Bethany Wood, Senior Coordinator, International Programs, Boston Public Schools

To Register: Contact Kathy Ennis at enniskathy5@gmail.com by April 27.

Global Education Massachusetts is a coalition of educators, policymakers, and business leaders working together to promote global education in Massachusetts.